New name with higher focus on the environment

UBD Production AB is changing it's company name into UBD Cleantech AB. In order to meet the increasing demand from our environment, UBD Cleantech AB will continue to develop it's concept of remanufacture spare parts for the European car industry with increasing focus on active remanufacturing.

Our approach is minimizing the waste of our natrual resources and this will be our contribution to reduce pollution and and stop global warming. All our customers, suppliers and future generations will benefit from our investments today.

This type of environmental initiative will accelerate the financial growth and therefore Cleantech is the future for today's corporations.

For you as Partner to UBD Cleantech the daily changes will be limited, the contact numbers, organisation numbers and bank account numbers will remain the same.
